DARBO

It was 1879, when Rudolf Darbo laid the foundations for his “fruit steamery” in Gorizia (now in Italy by the Slovenian border), he created what is now one of the most successful companies in Austria’s history.

Some 50 years later, his son, Adolf Darbo, relocated the company in the Tyrolean village of Stans. Darbo’s capacity for innovation was one of the key factors in the company’s success.

HIGHLAND SUGARWORKS

Highland Sugarworks was founded in 1986 deep in the heart of Vermont's Green Mountains.

From the very beginning, our goal was to produce and distribute the finest maple syrup available. In addition to our own production we purchase syrup from other sugarmakers throughout Vermont and New England. It's been a joy to work with these dedicated family farmers who faithfully stoke their sugarhouse evaporators each spring to carry on this time-honored tradition. We are proud to be able to help sustain family farms throughout New England.

Fruit preserves refers to fruit, or vegetables, that have been prepared and canned for long term storage. The preparation of fruit preserves traditionally involves the use of pectin. There are various types of fruit preserves made globally, and they can be made from sweet or savory ingredients.

PRESERVE AND HONEY FACTS

When Fresh Honey comes out of the bee-hive, it is runny, & sticky.

With time, all true pure honey will crystallize or granulate, but honey will never spoil. Honey was found in the Egyptian tombs, & it was still good. Do not refrigerate honey, because refrigeration will hasten crystallization. Honey can be frozen. It will remain liquid when it thaws out. To reliquify crystallized honey, heat it in a pan of warm water, microwave it, (keep temperatures under 110 degrees) or put it on the dashboard of your car on a hot day & watch it go liquid again!
